

Marinating in God's Word: 2 Kings 5:1-16

God's plan of redemption is playing out in a variety of ways, one of which is through the healing work of Jesus Christ in our lives today.

For further reflection on your own or in a small group, consider these questions:

What are the different ways Naaman is healed in this text? Can you think of other Biblical examples of similar types of healing?

What do you make of the faith of the little girl? What are some ways that she and Naaman are similar and different? Do you see any familiar struggles in our society today when it comes to receiving the grace of the Lord?

A common question currently asked within the church is: Is healing for today? What are your thoughts about this? How do you reconcile your thoughts with Scripture? What are some ways to discuss this topic with those who are seeking to know more about the faith?

Based on this text, how do you understand our invitation today to participate in the healing and redemptive work of Jesus Christ? What could this look like in your life group and personal life?
